UCLA Film & Television Archive is offering a single Student Research Award of $3,000 for the 2013 calendar year. The purpose of the award is to:

- Recognize excellence in UCLA graduate student writing based on extensive research viewing of material held by UCLA Film & Television Archive.
- Encourage research access to moving image collections held by the Archive.

Eligibility

- Enrolled UCLA Masters of Arts students that will not graduate in 2013.
- Enrolled UCLA PhD students that will not advance to candidacy in 2013.
- Enrolled MA and PhD students from all UCLA departments are invited to apply.

Application

- Complete and submit the ARSC Award Application form; due to ARSC by June 7, 2013.
- Submit a formal 500-800 word narrative proposal for a paper or article that will require extensive research viewing of UCLA Film & Television Archive holdings. Proposal must explicate your topic and include a filmography of Archive holdings that are central to your research.

Selection

- Award recipient will be selected from the narrative proposal that best reflects original scholarship and relevance of Archive holdings to the proposed research.
- Award will be distributed to recipient upon submission of completed paper/article as described in proposal. Paper/article must be completed by the end of Fall Quarter, 12/13/2013.

About the Archive’s Collections

UCLA Film & Television Archive holds over 250,000 films and television programs produced from the 1890s to the present. The collection includes independent and studio-produced shorts and feature films, advertising and industrial films, documentaries, local and network TV programming, commercials, news and public affairs broadcasts, and 27 million feet of newsreels produced between 1919 and 1971. The Archive Research and Study Center (ARSC) coordinates thousands of individual viewing appointments annually, facilitating access to the Archive’s rare collections in UCLA's Instructional Media Lab. For more information, please e-mail arsc@cinema.ucla.edu.
APPLICATION FORM: ARSC STUDENT RESEARCH AWARDS (2013)
-DUE TO ARSC BY JUNE 7, 2013-

You may submit hard copies to 46 Powell or you may e-mail your application materials as a single .pdf to arsc@cinema.ucla.edu.

Name_______________________________________ UCLA Department ______________________________
Address______________________________________ M.A. ___ PhD ___
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
E-mail_______________________________________ Phone____________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
Title of proposed paper/article______________________________________________________________

The following supplemental materials must be submitted with the application form:

1) □ Formal 500-800 word narrative proposal for a paper or article that will require extensive research viewing of UCLA Film & Television Archive holdings.

2) □ Filmography of relevant collection materials to be viewed as compiled via research in the Archive’s online catalog at http://cinema.library.ucla.edu. Please include item inventory numbers.

3) □ Curriculum vitae.

*If selected for award, student agrees to complete and submit research and paper/article by December 13, 2013.

DATE ____________________ Applicant ______________________________________________________ signature of applicant

Important dates
Application materials due to ARSC by June 7, 2013.
Award recipient announced:
July 8, 2013
Research period:
July 2013 - December 13, 2013

Submit application materials to:
Mark Quigley
Archive Research and Study Center
Powell Library, room 46.
arsc@cinema.ucla.edu

-Funded by a grant from the Myra Reinhard Family Foundation -